

HEAR OUR PUBLIC EMPLOYEES COALITION

On June 15th, we must stand together to repeal a 50-year-old Jim Crow law (NC General Statute 95-98) that denies a basic human right to the public workers who help make our state run and are essential to our state's economic recovery:

- ▶ The right to collectively bargain
- ▶ The right to respect and a voice in the workplace
- ▶ The right to negotiate decent wages, benefits for workers and their families and safety in the workplace
- ▶ The opportunity to share workers' knowledge and skills on how to make public services more efficient and effective

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING LOBBY DAY

THE DATE

Tuesday, June 15
9am–1pm

State Archives auditorium
109 East Jones Street, Raleigh, NC

Repeal of 95-98 and passage of HB 750 / SB 427 will speak for ALL workers in North Carolina who seek simple justice and human rights. As workers bear the brunt of a cruel economy and as corporate power gets stronger, it's time to turn the tide in North Carolina—only one of two states in the entire country that, by statute, prohibit public workers from engaging in the human right to collectively bargain.
